THE TORTOISESHELL CAT

F. A. HAYS
Massachusetts Agricultural College

GENETICISTS are almost universally agreed on the following points regarding color inheritance in cats:

1. That black males mated to yellow females give tortoise females and yellow males.
2. That yellow males mated to black females give tortoise females, an occasional black female, and all black males.
3. That black males mated to tortoise females give both tortoise and black females and both yellow and black males.
4. That yellow males mated to tortoise females give both yellow and tortoise females, an occasional black female, and both yellow and black males.

A few tortoise males have been recorded. Such males are considered sterile. The two most important questions in this connection are:

1. Why are tortoise males not of frequent occurrence?
2. Why are tortoise males sterile?

The first of these questions may be elucidated by a brief statement of the method of inheritance of the factors for black and yellow, which when together make the tortoise pattern. The results of the four types of matings enumerated above clearly place the two factors for coat color in the category of sex-linked factors as Little³ suggests. In such case the male progeny receive an X-chromosome from their dam carrying either the gene for black or yellow color. This chromosome is paired with the Y-chromosome from the sire. This assumed* Y-chromosome is apparently devoid of genes for the colors in question so that the sons inherit their color only from their dams. Daughters receive an X-chromosome from both sire and dam and thus provide a mechanism for both the black and the yellow factor to occur in the female zygotes. The combined action of these factors gives the tortoise pattern.

Different concepts of the possible explanation for the occurrence of a few tortoise males need not be discussed. The sterility in such males has been explained by some as being due to imperfect sex development or to the partial transposition of the female to the male sex. Careful examination of the fetuses of seventy pregnant cats by Doncaster and Bember¹ has not revealed a single case of confluence of blood vessels or fused chorions.

A means of explaining the infrequent occurrence of tortoise males and their sterility, as well as the appearance of the few unexpected black females in crosses 2 and 4, exists in the crossing-over phenomenon. We may assume that a cross-over only infrequently occurs between the X- and Y-chromosomes of a yellow male because the genes occupy loci in very close proximity, and moreover that cross-overs sometimes take place in the two X-chromosomes of females. If a male with crossing-over between the X- and Y-Chromosomes is mated to black females he should sire some tortoise males.

Spermatogenesis in tortoise males is not normal according to Cutler and Doncaster.² This may be due to the abnormal character of their Y-chromosome, since the Y-chromosome has been thought not to be the carrier of character genes until the discovery of "male-linked" by J. Schmidt⁴ in fishes.

*DeWiniwarter has apparently discovered two types of spermatocytes in the cat, one carrying seventeen and the other eighteen chromosomes. He was, however, unable to trace the chromosomes farther than the spermatocyte stage. Because of the behavior of the colors black and yellow in inheritance, we may be justified in assuming the existence of the Y-chromosome in half the spermatozoa until its absence is proven.

ISOLATION

BY DORA JAMES

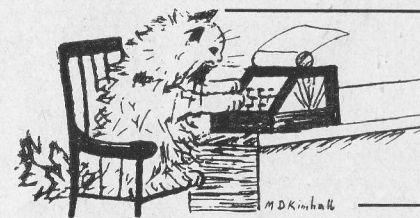

The dictionary definition of isolation is "to be placed alone in a detached place," and the definition of "detached" is "away from others." Therefore, isolation means to be placed alone, away from others.

When your veterinary, or your cat book, or "the friend in need," who knows says, "Isolate your cat," do you really isolate? Do you put him alone in a room away from others, or do you put him in a wire run, or a wire cage in the same room with others, and perhaps feeling sorry for him let him out for a run once in a while?

It is this misguided love for one's pets that lengthens the obituary lists and spreads disease germs to those which might have been "among those present" for long years to come.

A cat or kitten, with loose stools, diarrhoea or dysentery, should be isolated until the trouble has been conquered, and the same with the cat that is vomiting, the cat with ear mites, and with skin troubles. So much time is saved when these conditions are taken in hand in time, and not allowed to spread to all of the others in the cattery. Sore eyes, colds, snuffles, pneumonia, gastritis and enteritis, as well as the skin and bowel conditions should be isolated, and kept in isolation until sate on the road to Well-ville.

Correspondence

Editor Cat Review:

Please make the following correction for me. In the report of the Springfield, Mass., show of December 4 and 5th, Manhattan Silver Glow is credited with being first and winner in the Silver Female Novice Class, whereas it should have read Manhattan Silver Mist. Silver Glow is shaded silver. Both of these cats belong to Mrs. Harry De Nault.

I am sure that Mrs. Richmond, the manager, will forgive me for making the correction without consulting her. It was simply a mistake in copying, but Silver Mist isn't a bit willing for her sister to walk away with any honors belonging to her, particularly as she is doing pretty well toward her championship.

Editor Cat Review:

I am greatly puzzled at the things I read in your magazine and in the books about cats. There seem to be so many contradictions. How is a poor novice to tell which one is right?

One writer says to give your cat plenty of olive oil, and another says never give your cat olive oil; one says to feed raw beef, and another says not to feed raw beef. Some say that they use iodine successfully, and others say it is a poison and will kill cats. How are we, the novices of the fancy, going to know?

I have written to a few breeders for advice, and have been told that I must learn from experience, just as they did. But how many of my precious cats will have to be sacrificed while I pass through this educational process?

Yours truly,
Worcester, Mass., February 15, 1924.

A Novice.

Editor Cat Review:

Having read with much interest Miss Champion's article in the January Review, entitled "Hints for Winter," I would like to have the author go into detail as to why olive oil should never be given to cats.

Yours truly,

I. C. Pierson.

Kansas City, Mo., January 25, 1924.

It should always be remembered that cats are carnivorous animals; that their diet is raw meat, and that the proportion of natural fat is small. Cats also have very delicate digestions and very large livers; therefore, any food of a rich oily nature should be avoided.

Olive oil is far too rich, and we have known cases of dropsy and jaundice developing when it has been constantly given as part of the cats' diet.

If cats are provided with grass, either fresh or dried, that is all that is necessary to act as an emetic and dislodge the hair balls.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, CAT CLUB

The large number of entries at the Glendale show was quite a surprise. There were 199 entered, but the list of absentees was unfortunately rather lengthy, largely owing to the holding of the Los Angeles show just one week before. There were, however, 154 cats present and competing, which, under Federation rules, constitutes a four-point show. If the Eastern fanciers had any idea of the work entailed in benching so large a show on the Pacific coast they would doubly appreciate the result obtained by the management of the Glendale Cat Club. Imagine owning all your own cages and having to bench the show yourselves. It is not possible to just notify Spratts, as we do in the East, and find everything ready on the morning of the show, and we feel sure that there would not be many cat shows in the East if the club members had to work as hard for results as those in the West.

The exhibits on the whole were not in bad condition considering the lateness of the season, although several of the best cats had made havoc of their erstwhile beautiful frills.

The entry in yellow-eyed whites was larger and better than in the New York shows, and there was a very good entry in blues; the blue-eyed whites were few in numbers, but the only entry in the Open Males was a very fine specimen, Powder Puff Chimes by name, a large handsome cat shown in the pink of condition. He failed in depth of eye color, but took the ribbon for Best Cat in the show.

The most remarkable feature of the show was the large entry of silver tabby short haired cats; these were better than any we have seen in this country; counting two wonderful neuters there were nine entries, all of good quality, being well marked, clear colored tabbies, good enough to win in any company.

The silvers and reds were disappointing; the new male belonging to Dr. Ashcroft was not shown on account of his coat not being in good trim, but in spite of this he would undoubtedly have won "hands down," and it was really a pity not to have exhibited him.

As to the principal awards, Best Cat went to the long haired white male, Powder Puff Chimes, owned by Mrs. Bundy. Best Female was a very nice blue, Barbe Bleue Skydust, owned by Mrs. Harris; she is a lovely cat, good cobby type, shown in fine condition, although only in halfcoat; nice head and ears, and sounder in color than other present day blues. Could win in good company if shown in condition. She took the special for second Best Cat.

Second Best Male was Mrs. Harris's Barbe Bleue Khani, another good blue. He will do a lot of winning if he fills out, but at present is rather small for a male.

Best Novice was Miss Grim's Matilija Don Sonyanno, a young blue of exceptionally fine type for his age; large, but very cobby, and has immense bones. The new male, Lavender General, second in open, would have done better but he had entirely eliminated his frill on both sides of his face. He is, however, of the right type, with fine eye color, and should be a great acquisition to blue breeders on the Pacific coast.

Best Kitten was a good smoke female, Copper of Athens, owned by Mrs. A. B. Johnston, good in type with nice deep eyes. He compares well with our Eastern smokes.

Best Neuter, Matilija Vincent, owner Miss Grim, was a large, handsome shaded-silver, shown in good condition.

Best Short-hair, Sonny Behave, a good silver tabby, owned by Mrs. A. B. Johnston. Best Female Short-hair, Verdugo Painted Lady, a very nice clearly marked silver tabby, owned by Dr. Ashcroft.

Best Short-haired Neuter was a magnificent silver tabby, Sambo, owned by Mrs. Archer. The silver tabbies certainly walked off with the chief honors in the short haired classes.

The show was held in a nice large hall and the judging pens were near large windows with the light directly on them; everything was well managed, especially the "stewarding;" never have we seen less delay in getting the cats to and from the pens, nor more efficiency in handling them; the Glendale Club is to be congratulated on its able and energetic management.

The weather during our entire stay was perfect and the "gate" was good, especially on the first evening, when the hall was crowded.

A few crystals of Epsom Salts in the drinking water cools the blood. I use it in my cattery at the first sign of "digging" out the coats, for the non-contagious skin troubles, and the females that are being "held over" a mating period.

News

Mrs. E. P. Williams, R. 8, Spokane, Washington, owner and manager of the Pinecroft Place Kennels and Aviary, has been quite ill with nervous trouble and wishes to ask those who wish her stock and have written her letters of inquiry to write again, as she is once more able to attend to her correspondence.

Mrs. E. J. Schaller, of Eustis, Fla., has recently purchased the Eustis Cattery from Mr. Thede, owing to Mrs. Thede's death. These red, orange, and fawn colored cats have fine heads and beautiful faces.

Mrs. O. T. Young, of Hopedale, O., writes: "I have just bought of Miss J. R. Kroeh, Orange, N. J., her Ch. Kilravock Meringue. She is the dearest little pet and will just cuddle up in my lap and go to sleep."

Mrs. R. P. Spellman, of Schenectady, N. Y., has bought from Mrs. Ryder, of Binghamton, N. Y., a shaded silver male, a son of Winter Pax, and his dam is a Ganymede queen. Mrs. Spellman is delighted with Briarson and found him to be just as Mrs. Ryder had described him.

Mrs. A. J. Jones, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I have quite recently bought nearly all of the inmates of the Good Hope Cattery. I am very much pleased with everything I purchased from Miss Spencer and found every cat and kit just as she represented."

Miss Dorothy B. Champion, well known as one of the breeders of the finest Persian cats and small dogs, and as a writer for the Cat Review, is also an expert horse woman. She is going on a six-years trip around the world with a moving picture company and will figure in their equestrian scenes, not riding her own mount but the horses of the countries visited.

Mrs. Joseph Richmond, of Springfield, Mass., writes that she has sold her silver stud, Pynchon Reveille, sire, Kwannon, dam, Lady Jubilee, to Mrs. J. Needham, of Seattle, Wash. He was five days on the trip, but arrived safely. She says, "I have also sold through the Review, a seven months old male kitten to Mrs. Adams, of Adams, Mass., and a female neuter to Mrs. Conroy, of Dorchester, Mass., also a female to Mrs. Triccoli, of Marblehead, Mass."

WASHINGTON CAT CLUB

The annual meeting of the Washington Cat Club was held at the home of Mrs.

Frank M. Tompkins, February 5th, 1924. The Treasurer's report for the year was read and ordered to be filed.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. H. L. West; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Ben Lee Fuller, Miss Ada Rhodes, Mrs. B. T. Woodward, and Miss Margaret Clark; Secretary, Mrs. E. C. Stephens; Treasurer, Mr. E. S. Schmid. Delegates to the Cat Fanciers' Federation, Mrs. B. T. Woodward, (Board Member), Miss Mary E. Hantzmon, and Miss Anita Torrey. Mrs. Jacques Romano, of New York, was appointed proxy.

The repeal of one section of the By-laws was discussed, but as the hour was late, the matter will be taken up at the next meeting. The topic for the March meeting will be inbreeding.

Mae B. Stephens, Secretary.

HOUSTON CAT CLUB

The annual meeting of the Houston Cat Club was held February 13th, and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. W. E. Carroll; first Vice-President, Mrs. E. C. McQuillian; second Vice-President, Mrs. E. P. Viellelette; third Vice-President, Mrs. LeRoy Stubblefield; fourth Vice-President, Mrs. S. D. Smith; fifth Vice-President, Mrs. J. E. Stott; Treasurer, Mrs. Ray Davis; Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. M. Yarrington; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. L. Pearson; directors, Mrs. J. T. Oliver, Mrs. R. A. Searle, Mrs. C. S. Wells Jr., and Mrs. Kate Moyes.

We are beginning the new year in splendid financial condition, with a new president whose energy and enthusiasm should give us the most successful show of our short existence.

Mrs. W. L. Pearson, Corresponding Secretary, 3804 Mt. Vernon, Houston, Texas.

BLUE CAT SOCIETY OF AMERICA

The Blue Cat Society of America ends the season of 1923-24 with a good membership and a very fair balance in the treasury. Several new trophies were added to the list, and three were "lifted" by Miss E. G. Heyden—The Argent Challenge, for best brace of blues bred by exhibitor; Earl of Westmoreland Trophy, for best blue male, Novice, Open and Champion classes competing, and the Blue Cat Society Trophy for largest exhibit of blues.

The Earl of Westmoreland Trophy will be replaced by one bearing the same name.

The Society is very anxious to enroll the owners of blue short haired cats. In the list of trophies there are challenge medals offered for each sex in the short-haired classes. Years ago, there were always such beautiful ones in our shows. "Why not now?"

The officers of the Society for the year beginning with March, 1924, are: President, Mrs. L. H. Bixby, Washington, D. C.; Vice-Presidents: Mrs. B. T. Woodward, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. R. J. Marshall, San Francisco, Cal.; Mrs. P. J. Fitzpatrick, Toronto, Canada; Miss Elsie Adamson, Toronto, Canada; Mrs. George D. Kessler, Chicago, Ill.; Miss Elsie G. Hydon, Bogota, N. J.; Mrs. J. H. Revington, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Harold Riggs, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Ada G. Armbruster, Jacksonville, Fla.; Miss Laura B. Jones, Indianapolis, Ind.; Miss Dorothy Champion, Staten Island, N. Y.; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. L. West, Washington, D. C.; delegate to C. F. F., Miss E. G. Hydon; and delegate to A. C. A., Miss Laura B. Jones.

Application for membership should be sent to the Secretary, whose address is 2701 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D. C.

(Mrs. H. L.) Mary Hope West, Secretary.
