FIRST HELP FOR NEW-BORN KITTENS

BY REGULAR READER

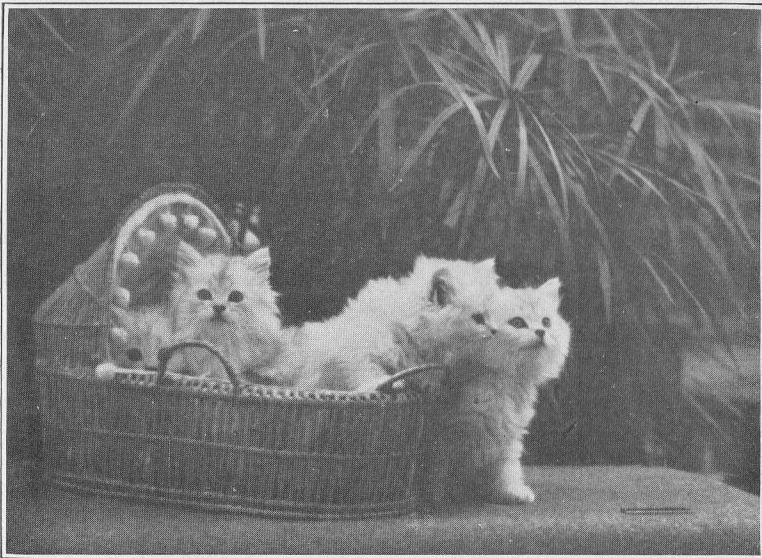

TO begin with see that the mother cat is ready. If a Persian cat, cut away some of the long hair from around the breasts. There must be no struggle while doing this, so if your cat is nervous begin fully a week before the time for the birth of the kittens, and stop cutting the hair each time as soon as she becomes suspicious if she will not quiet down when you coax and talk to her. See that the breasts are clean and soft. A drop of olive oil or a little vaseline will help you in cleaning them and soften them at the same time.

It is best to keep the cat rather quiet during the last week of pregnancy, and if it is necessary to lift her at any time for weeks before, this should be done very gently and carefully and with both hands.

I prefer giving no medicine at the time the kittens are coming, but always have some homeopathic pulsatilla on hand—3 x, with the smallest size pellets, about like grains of sugar—and if labor is prolonged I give a pinch of this—as much as is easily picked up between thumb and finger—once in a while.

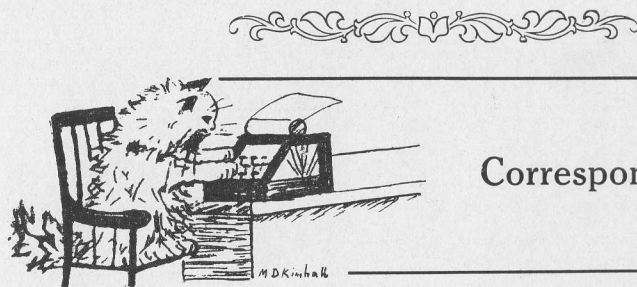

After the kittens come you must find out whether the cat has milk or not. Without lifting or disturbing her try to press out a little. If your fingers are not made moist or sticky you have not been successful. Some cats have too much and some have none, and they, at first, seem to act in about the same restless way. Most of my cats have had their milk come just right so I have not had much experience with unusual cases, but if there is too much you must not feed much liquid, and if there is none or too little you must feed all the liquid that you can, without over feeding. Give a pinch of homeopathic asafœtida, 3 x, every hour if the cat has no milk at all, or every two hours if she has only a little. This ought to bring the milk in a few hours. Then see that all of the kittens nurse.

Keep the kittens' home box in a dark and quiet place. And there should be a sanitary pan near by and one at some distance, as some cats have a decided objection to using a pan that is near their babies. Of course puss must know where this second pan is before the babies come. Her box and everything should be in readiness at least a week before the kittens are due.

Editor Cat Review:

Will you kindly correct in your paper the report that I gave Donna Laura Best Shaded Silver at the Indianapolis show "regardless of sex." This is a sad mistake. I did not give her even Best Shaded Female; that special went to Mrs. O. F. Heslar's Ch. Bondella.

It was only after considerable hesitation that I gave Donna Laura the Winner's ribbon, there being only one other female (a novice) to compete with her, and I did not greatly fancy Donna Laura because her type is poor. I finally gave her Winners on the strength of her clear color and good condition. Ch. Bondella was only entered in the Champion class, so she could not take Winners, but she easily beat Donna Laura for Specials. Mrs. Brundage, Donna Laura's owner, overheard part of my explanation of this point from the front of the judging ring, and she jumped to the conclusion that her cat was the best of all the shaded silvers, when as a matter of fact, not only was she beaten by Ch. Bondella, but the First and Second males in the Open class and the winning Novice Male all ranked above her.

I tried most patiently to correct Mrs. Brundage on this point when she began claiming this award during the show, but she is evidently of the opinion that claiming a prize is nine-tenths of the law. She will find it doesn't work out this way. There was no ambiguity about the decision to anyone in the show but Mrs. Brundage, and my judging slips and the records of the Specials will bear me out.

In justice to the other silver cats in the show I feel that this statement should be publicly corrected.

Very truly,

Mrs. Shannon D. Smith,
Judge of the Indianapolis Show.

Editor Cat Review:

According to my opinion, Miss Champion's reasons for not giving olive oil to cats, as published in March Cat Review, are hardly acceptable. They read something on this order:

"Cats are carnivorous animals, hence their diet is raw meat.

Their proportion of natural fat is small, and their digestion being delicate, rich oily food should not be given."

First of all, olive oil is a non-nitrogenous vegetable product. By this is meant that it contains no protein.

Second, what are the functions of the liver? How is olive oil changed in the digestive tract, and what course of absorption does it take? According to the most up-to-date physiology, the liver has four important functions: viz., secretion of bile, the formation and storing of glycogen, regulating the supply of sugar and the formation of urea as an end-product in the disintegration of protein substances, poisonous and non-poisonous.

All protein sugar and starch after digestion are taken up directly by the blood circulation of the digestive tract (particularly of the small intestines) and carried to the liver for further transformation and storage. Fats and vegetable oils are changed to soap and fatty acids, and in part are taken up by a series of small tubes called Lacteals, leading off from the small intestines and indirectly connecting with the venous circulation. The remainder of the soap and fatty acids acts as a laxative by lubricating and stimulating the bowels.

I cannot understand how, by any possibility, olive oil can disturb the liver when this organ takes absolutely no part in the transformation of that product. All carnivorous animals have large livers, and quite likely, on account of meats being high in protein and carbohydrates, the duties of the liver are a little more strenuous than in a non-carnivorous animal.

Editor Cat Review:

I have used iodine on my cats and kittens; I have used olive oil and many of the things that I have since been told were harmful. Apparently mine were not harmed and others that I know were not harmed. Do cats have individual idiosyncrasies to drugs and foods as human beings do? Can it be that these things were given in combination with something else and that the combination was not a wise or safe one? Otherwise why has it harmed some and not harmed others? Would those that died have died of other causes had not the drug been used? Perhaps the condition which caused the death was present and about to present itself.

As to the different methods of feeding—I have wondered if different climates, different conditions, different individuals, regulate the success of the mode of feeding. I should think that a cat living in a steam-heated apartment would require less heating food than one living in a stove-heated house, and that one in an unheated outdoor cattery would have to be fed more heating food than either of the house cats. The articles on feeding do not specify these differences. The writers do not remember how little we novices know, or they do not realize that were they raising cats under other conditions they would raise them differently.

Will some one write a letter, or an article, telling the things that novices should know and tell us why we are to do them? I am sure that someone knows and could tell us many things that we ought to know.

Maida Miami.

Editor Cat Review:

I want to tell you of the strange coming back of an old blood line, which I believe is now extinct, except for the following.

I purchased D. when he was ten months old and kept him five years just for a pet.

In the fall of 1919 he was taken to Denver, Colorado, in a Pullman, and made his novice appearance as a show cat. As he was Best Cat in the show an attempt was made to breed him, but this was unsuccessful. I then became interested in breeding, and made several more attempts to breed him, but without results, so he was permitted to live in with a lovely white female, and in time the pair produced three pure white kittens, which so encouraged me that I purchased a good mate for him. These two lived together for nearly a year, and at last D., in his tenth year, has presented me with five blue kittens. Their birth notice is in the last Review. So, at last, I hope to show the fancy stock from the old Ch. Azure Shiraz strain.

Yours truly,

(Mrs.) Mable Bailey.

Best Opposite Sex Short-hair—Spider, Mrs. Morical.

Best Short-hair Neuter—Toby Webb, Mr. C. L. Webb.

Blue Eyed White Male, Open—
First and Winner—Ponto, Mrs. Chas. Kliem. Eyes pale, good type and coat.

Yellow Eyed Male Champion—
First—Ch. King Friar, Mrs. R. H. Haggard. A worthy cat, but have seen him in lots better condition.

Yellow Eyed White Male, Novice—
First and Winner—White Star Boy, Mrs. Chas. Walton. A young cat not wholly developed, but promises fine type; eyes not very deep color.

Yellow Eyed White Female, Open—
First and Winner—Mary Jane Walton, Mrs. Walton. Good head and eyes, nice type and condition.

Blue Male, Open—
First and Winner—Carnarvon Sensation of Riverdale, Miss Laura Jones. Good head and general type; medium, level color, blazing orange eyes.

Blue Male, Novice—
First—Mai-Fong, Mrs. Maude Lombard. Good type and light color, though not entirely sound; eyes greenish yellow.

Second—Carnarvon Blue Bobby, Miss Jones. Dark slatey color, fails head to first, eyes too green.

Black Male, Champion—
First—Ch. Prince of Darkness, Mrs. Haggard. Good cat in poor condition.

Black Male, Open—
First and Winner—Buster, Miss Margaret Gramling. Excellent type, head and coat, sound black; light eyes.

Second—Ebony Fox of Olentangy, Mrs. H. W. Miller. Lovely type and deep glowing eyes, but color unsound and quite rusty, would have won except for this.

Third—Major, Mrs. Margaret Addison. Poor head, fine eyes, short coat, good color.

Fourth—Peek-a-Boo Boy-Boy, Mrs. W. H. Galbraith. Excellent head, fair eye color; underparts very smoky and many white hairs in tail.

Black Male, Novice—
First—Tony, Mrs. M. Kachn. Good type and fairly sound color.

Second—Lassie's Squeezica, Mrs. Will Smith. Smallest of the class, but good head and body, good eye color, tail a bit long and color rusty.

Third—Lassie's Blackamoor, Mrs. H. E. Watson. Short-coated, smoky color, good eyes, rather lanky type.

Black Female, Open—
First and Winner—Peek-a-Boo Lassie, Mrs. Smith. Good type, color and eyes; short-coated.

Black Female, Novice—
First—Lady Betty Janette, Miss Ida Dorset. Excellent type and bone, good head and eyes, short coat. Fails to winner on coat and eyes.

Second—Lassie's Fiji, Mrs. E. M. Houser. Nice type and pretty coat, but rusty color; good eyes.

Third—Dame Matsa, Mrs. Wm. Burns. Good head and eyes, long tail and tiny locket, but sound color and well built, solid type.

Fourth—Lassie's Very Own, Mrs. P. H. Pierce. Good type and eyes, but unsound color.

Black Female Kitten—
First—Nat-U-Rich, G. W. Glass. Nice kitten, good type and eyes; still somewhat rusty in color.

Red Male, Open—
First and Winner—Prince Eppo of Oz, Mrs. Allie Robinson. Lovely head and excellent type all around; deep eye color; shows some tabby markings, but a deep glowing red in fine condition.

Second—Koken Patterson, Mrs. Oliver A. Brundage. Nice type and coat, heavy bone and short tail; light eyes.

Third—Ve Ve of Vermillion, Mrs. A. A. Glascock. Lovely type and color, most nearly unmarked of the class, but carries a "Peke" tail, odd and pretty, but not according to standard.

Fourth—Red Ruff III, Mrs. Haggard. Deep eyes and good head; long tail and uneven color.

Red Male, Novice—
First—Sonny Boy, Mrs. L. J. Riley. Exquisite type and very red color; shows tabby markings and eyes are light at pupils. Fails to winner on eyes and uneven color.

Second—Illinois Boza, Mrs. Frank S. Johnson. Best eye color of the class, heavy coat and good body type, fails to first on head and color.

Third—Red Ellington, Mrs. H. J. Murray. Good eyes, but quite plainly tabby.

Red Female, Open—
First and Winner—Que-Tea of Oz, Mrs. Robinson. Excellent type, lovely coat and condition; wins on her deeper eye color and freedom from tabby markings. One of the best females in the show.

Second—Betty Sunshine, Mrs. C. B. Cornell. Trifle redder color than winner, lovely type and head, light eyes.

Third—Feczy Sneezy of Silver Bell, Mrs. Haggard. Good type and head, but fails color and coat to others and has white spot on her tummy.

Red Female, Novice—
First—Mickey, Mrs. Nettie Druley. Excellent type and good color.

Second—Lady Ki-Ko, Dr. C. D. Driscoll. Charming type and coat, pretty face, rather light in color.

Third—Duchess, Mrs. Martha Garber. Good type, but uneven color and matted coat.

Fourth—Lady June, Mrs. Hughes. Good type and coat, but faint tabby markings.

Red Neuter—
First—Peek-a-Boo Amazon, F. M. Rude. Light chin, but larger and in better condition.

Second—Buff, J. F. Herrmann. Better eyes and color, but a mass of mats.

Third—Billy Booker, Miss Marie Hilgmeier.

Cream Male, Open—
First and Winner—Foreign Legion, L. B. Hensley. Good type and condition and excellent head and eyes; a little dark and uneven in color.

Second—King D. L. Teed, Mrs. Byram. Pretty type and coat, white chin.

Cream Male, Novice—
Second—Toy, Mrs. Mary Thias. Fails type and condition and is too mottled.

Cream Female, Novice—
Second—Queen D. L. Teed, Mrs. Byram. Unsound chin, but pretty type and head.

Cream Female Kitten—
First—Sunshine Baby, Mrs. M. E. Barnes. Too red in color, but fair type and coat.

Cream Neuter—
First—Sonny, O. F. Heslar. Good type and condition, shades out too light.

Second—Goofer, Miss Marjorie Alling.

Red Tabby Male, Champion—
First—Ch. Rubra Fox of the Fox Valley, Mrs. Ella Pace. Very rich color, brilliantly marked; fine head and eyes; good quality all over. A close reserve for best male in show.

Red Tabby Male, Open—
First and Winner—Chief Redwood, Mrs. Martin Ernst. Best color of class, sound all over, brilliant markings, good condition, eyes a trifle light.

Second—Charlemagne, Mrs. Winfield

Stevens. Good head and eyes, rich color and markings, but shades light on muzzle and underparts.

Third—Red Pepper of Wabash, Miss

Bernice Whitten. Best head and eyes of class, but creamy muzzle and faint markings.

Fourth—John Boy, Mrs. Earl Klinger.

Excellent type; light eyes, faint markings, condition poor.

Red Tabby Male, Novice—
First—Roe Redmayne, Harry Garber. Exquisite type and coat; rich color, markings too light, and blurred by coat; will make a more consistent winner in the solid class.

Second—Tavistock Rin Tin, Mrs.

Webb. Brilliant color, good eyes, body type good, but tail a little long and head rather small.

Third—Carmine Oriflamme, Hoosier Cattery. Fair type, medium color and markings; ugly disposition, so he didn't go as high as he might.

Fourth—Snoopy, Mrs. Frank Hughes.

Pretty type and color, fails head.

Red Tabby Male Kitten—
First—Hoosier Red Tiger, Hoosier Cat-tery. Nice head, deep eyes, brilliant color; fails body type and tail.

Second—Peter Whiffle, Mrs. H. L. Archer.

Better body than first, but fails head and has a damaged eye temporarily.

Third—Paddy Bov, Mrs. Hugh Dodd.

Very sweet little kitten, pretty face and good eyes, lacks brilliancy of color.

Fourth—Dreamwold Red Riot, Mrs. Unversaw. Good coat and condition, excellent eyes, fails head, is light in color and has a tiny locket.

Red Tabby Female. Open—

First and Winner—Ozma of Oz, Mrs. G. D. Weber. One of the reddest cats I have ever seen, excellent condition, good coat and brilliant markings, but poor head and expression. Wins on her unusual color alone.

Second—Lady Isabella, Mrs. Ella Pace. Exquisite type, beautiful face and eyes, but very faintly marked.

Third—Tippetty Wicket of Silver Bell, Mrs. Haggard. Nice cobby type, good head and muzzle; well marked, but light in color and light eyes.

Fourth—Lady Lincoln, Mrs. May Ackerman. Good head and color, clear markings, but light eyes and rangy type.

Red Tabby Female. Novice—

First—Star of Hope, Mrs. Addison. Rich color and clear markings, small head, but good shape; good body type, but somewhat long tail.

Second—Jaquesinia, Dr. N. La Bonte. Smooth type, nice head and eyes; good color and markings, but fails depth and brilliancy to winners.

Third—Marjory Pearl, Mrs. Chas. Maguire. Nice cobby type, good coat and condition, good eyes, rich color, but too faintly marked.

Fourth—Sessuette, Mrs. Klingly. Big cat, pretty coat and condition, light eyes and color.

Red Tabby Female Kitten—

First—Dreamwold Cherry Pie, Mrs. Unversaw. The larger, better coated kitten, clearer markings and good color.

Second—Cloverdale's Royalista, Mrs. Martin Ernst. Better head, but shorter coated; good color, but markings broken. Type of both good.

Brown Tabby Male. Open—

First and Winner—Prince Jingo Boy, Mrs. H. N. Miller. Excellent type and tawny color, markings not quite black enough and cat is small, but he has an unusually good head, big golden eyes and a creamy chin.

Second—Prince Starling, Mrs. J. E. Chester. Good body type and nicely marked, but fails head, eyes and chin to winner.

Third—Dago Peanutti, Mrs. Mark Adams. Good eyes, but too dark in color to win.

Brown Tabby Male. Novice—

Second—Bud, Geo. Holmes.

Third—Snoozer Boy M., Katherine Muddock. Both too dark and gray to win.

Brown Tabby Female. Open—

First and Winner—Miss Liberty, Mrs. D. E. Pittenger. Rich, tawny ground color and dense markings, good type and head; eyes greenish and chin white.

Second—Lee Roberta, Mrs. B. A. Lee Bay. Pretty good color and markings, but fails brilliancy to winner, also fails head; eyes greenish yellow.

Brown Tabby Neuter—

First—Teddy Boy, Mrs. O. P. Withers. Splendid fellow, lovely type and good markings; a pity to neuter him.

Second—Selim, Miss Mary Louise Burst.

Tortoiseshell. Open—

First and Winner—Skeeters, Nada Motley. Nice sized queen of good square build, good head and eyes, well broken color; a few faint tabby lines on face.

Second—Monkey, Mrs. Neil Burns. Fails type and color to winner.

Tortoiseshell. Novice—

First—Patsy, Mrs. R. T. Taflinger. Rather dark, but pretty type and coat.

Second—Honolulu Girl, Mrs. Haggard. Good type, eyes and color, but coat and condition poor, has a blemished eye.

Third—Yosan, Mrs. Lewis Jones. Pretty type and coat, light eyes and a locket.

Fourth—Lady Bell, Mrs. Hattie Woodruff. Too light, fails head and coat.

Chinchilla Male. Open—

First and Winner—Argent Flashlight of San Dawn, Mrs. Marie Stout. Very lovely type, coat and pale, unmarked silver; nose lacks the break, but is not long; eyes might be greener, but altogether a very handsome male.

Second—Chief Manitou, Mrs. Addison. Best eyes of the class, light color and nice type, but no match for the winner.

Third—Lord Beresford II, Mrs. Haggard. Good type, some shading on back and legs, fails condition to others.

Chinchilla Female. Open—

First and Winner—San Gleam of San Dawn, Mrs. Stout. Charming type and coat, pale and unmarked except for a slight shading at tip of tail; better head and eyes than the winning male and quite easily best cat in the show.

Shaded Silver Male. Open—

First and Winner—Lord Derby, Mrs. Ada Keilman. Lovely type and full coat, evenly shaded; brilliant big round green eyes and beautiful face.

Second—Chief Wynnewood, Mrs. Celia Hofer. Light, clear color, correctly shaded; fails head and type to winner, but a fine upstanding cat.

Third—Sir Robert Gray, Miss Eleanor J. Brundage. Fails type to winners, eyes yellow; unevenly shaded, flecked and barred.

Shaded Silver Male. Novice—

First—Prince Robbins of Rosedale, Mrs. O. F. Heslar. Excellent type and coat, pretty face; very light and clearly shaded.

Second—Bo-Bo II, Mrs. Addison. Fails type to first.

Shaded Silver Female. Champion—

First—Ch. Princess Bondella, Mrs. O. F. Heslar. Lovely clear color, correct shading, pretty round face, charming type.

Shaded Silver Female. Open—

First and Winner—Donna Laura, Miss Brundage. Big queen, nose and tail a trifle long; coat short, but color light and clear; eyes yellow-green.

Shaded Silver Female. Novice—

First—Polly Anna, Mrs. Ibbotson. Good body type and good green eyes; good color, but fails head type.

Shaded Silver Female Kitten—

First—Madam Frostilla, Mrs. Ernst. Pretty type, head and eyes; shaded on head and shoulders only.

Silver Tabby Male. Novice—

Second—Ladd, Mrs. Klinger. Fair head and eyes; well marked, but badly tinged with brown all over nose, face and body.

Smoke Male Kitten—

First—Sitting Bull, Mrs. Addison. Pretty type, rusty, light eyes.

Smoke Female. Novice—

First—Miss Smatt, Mrs. S. K. Lupton. Pretty type, greenish eyes, coat matting and some faint tabby lines in face.

Masked Silver Male. Open—

First and Winner—Watch Me of San Dawn, Mrs. Chas. Robards. Fine type, coat, and condition, sweet face; eyes not very green, and mask and points not dark enough.

Masked Silver Neuter—

First—Scoot, Mrs. Heslar. Very pretty type and coat, but really a very light smoke.

A. O. C. with White Male—

EDITORIALS

HIS year and last year we have been asked to write to our state senators and assemblymen, asking them to pass a law making it a crime to vivisect dogs, man's close companion. We could not do this believing, as we do, that it would heap more cruelty on cats—another close companion, but one that is not held in as high esteem by the world at large. We are in hearty sympathy with the work of the National Anti-Vivisection Society in striving to prevent vivisection, but we are primarily looking out for the cats.

It may not be out of place to state here how we stand. Doctors have ranked themselves in three different classes—those who advocate unlimited freedom in experimentation, those who advocate painless vivisection, and those who oppose it entirely. The laity follow one or another of these classes. We remember as though it were to-day a call in London from the first woman doctor in the world, a woman who was always in advance of others, a true leader in thought and in action. Vivisection was mentioned. We said, "It is horrible, but we suppose that some is necessary." Raising her finger she said, "No, my dear, none." We are proud of this woman, and are glad to fall in place behind her. She sent us literature covering work along this line and humane work in general both in America, the scene of her graduation as a doctor and of her first active practise, and in Europe.

We do not believe that any secrets of our human frame are hidden so that it is necessary to sacrifice lower animals made by the same Creator, in order to discover them. That there are other ways of learning and discovering whatever is needed has been shown over and over again.

Mrs. A. E. Hale, of San Pedro, California, is moving to Honolulu. Her cats have to wait and be shipped later, as Hawaii will not receive live stock from California on account of the foot and mouth disease.

In the advertisement of a certain boarding-place for animals in the Eastern States the advantages of the place, the good care and attention the animals will receive are duly set forth. Then the advertisement ends with the comforting statement that an "animal cemetery is attached!"

Mrs. C. M. Crossley, of Concord, Mass., has sold all of her smokes and could have sold more. Mrs. Steffens, of Bozeman, Montana, bought a female; Mrs. Allen, of Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. F. W. Gray, of Peoria, Ill., bought males, and Miss Ivy Lamond, of Philadelphia, bought another female. All of these went to good homes. Two of Mrs. Crossley's red kittens are to go to former customers—one to Miss Gretchen Chamberlain, of Saranac Lake, N. Y., and one to Mrs. Phillips, of Allston, Mass.

While the third Thursday of the month is officially the regular meeting day, the club has been holding a series of organization and friendship meetings every other week which are doing much to foster enthusiasm for the new club and bind its members into close harmony.

A number of new ideas are to be tried out by the club, one of which will bear mention especially. It is sadly true that not all fanciers are bound by the Golden Rule in their dealings with each other and the new club believes that it is within the jurisdiction of such an organization to exert some sort of supervision over the dealings of its members. Not only will no fraudulent practises be tolerated among its own members, but the Royal Cat Club of Kansas City will try to protect its members from any misrepresentations of stock or pedigrees by outsiders.

The club colors are red, white and blue, which will be used to decorate all cages uniformly at their shows. The aim of the club is a lofty one, loyalty to the club, helpfulness to each other, and a clean fancy for all. The principal officers are: President, Mrs. D. V. Kennedy; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. R. B. Davis; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. S. D. Smith; Secretary, Mrs. T. J. Vandegaer; Treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Lynn.
