TORTOISESHELL CATS

Which Is the Best Way to Produce Them?

NOEL ALDER

MAY I be permitted to offer a few remarks on what is perhaps the most puzzling subject in the breeding of cats. The difficulty of interpreting the curious facts concerning the tortoiseshell tom is increased by the occasional, though rare, occurrence of this species. If the male were altogether non-existent we could explain its absence by the chromosome theory, which was discussed a little while ago in the Rabbit section of "Fur and Feather" (for further reference see "Mendelism," by R. C. Punnett). The total absence of tortoiseshell toms would be on a par with the absence in women of a strange disease known as hæmophilia. This condition has been closely studied through generations of the same family. Hæmophilia is usually transmitted through the females to the males; only the male members of the family suffer, the women escape entirely. Vice versa, tortoiseshellness is transmitted through the female, and (?) the male cat to the females; the males almost always escape. A few tortoiseshell males, however, have existed, though as far as I can make out, they have invariably belonged to the short-hair variety. It would mean a great progress in breeding if we could definitely establish the S.H. male; the L.H. tortoiseshell tom might then follow.

Mr. Punnett remarks that in the one successful case of breeding the male tortie which came to his knowledge the animal proved sterile. Was this perhaps an instance of incomplete hermaphroditism? It would be interesting if past, and, possibly, present owners of male torties will give their experience as to the production and habits of these rare creatures.

Miss Frances Simpson has almost exhausted the subject in her great work on the "Cat," which, unfortunately, shares with our tortoiseshell toms the property of being extremely rare. As I am one of the few fortunate ones to possess this fine classic, now out of print, I will quote a few lines from the relevant chapter for the benefit of those readers who have no access to Miss Simpson's work:

"One curious fact in connection with long-haired tortoiseshells which is well known to fanciers may be mentioned, namely, the non-existence of the male sex. Among short-haired tortoiseshells toms are exceedingly rare, though one or two do exist; but an adult L. H. male appears to be absolutely unheard of. [Mr. Punnett does not say to which variety his tort. tom belonged.—N. A.]. The writer knows of one male kitten born some years ago, but it was either born dead or died in very early infancy. Darwin's theory that the orange tom and tortoiseshell queen were originally the male and female of the same variety is borne out by the fact that until recently orange females were also rare. Of late years a good many of these have been bred and reared, and, therefore, if the Darwinian theory be correct, it seems hard to believe that the tortoiseshell tom must be regarded as unobtainable. If the difficulty has been successfully overcome in the one case, why not in the other? Breeding with this object in view is very slow work, for some tortoiseshell queens will produce litter after litter without a single kitten of their own color (important.—N. A.), and a family consisting entirely of tortoiseshells would be as welcome as it is rare, but it would be a pity to despair of breeding the long-looked-for tom. . . ."

The question naturally arises of how we are to approach the problem. To commence in any haphazard way would be unscientific and useless. What we require is the deliberately bred tortoiseshell tom, not the product of chance. In the following I shall endeavor to outline a plan which, however incorrect it may prove, has at least the advantage of being methodical, and I beg of all interested in this fascinating problem to give their opinion freely.

We may breed tortoiseshells from reds, blacks, tortoiseshells, and even other varieties, but for the sake of simplifying matters we will confine our experiments to the above-mentioned; it would obviously complicate the results if we introduced white, blue or cream elements. As reds, blacks and tortoiseshells are often themselves cross-bred, it is absolutely necessary to ascertain, first of all, the dominant and recessive characteristics in the first parents we are about to select for our experiment, bearing in mind that the only tortoiseshell toms known to have existed are of the S. H. variety. Our search will, therefore, be after a line-bred S. H. sire, who is known to sire tortoiseshell kittens. I am glad to say I have found this cat in the possession of Mr. Guy, of Reigate; it is his well-known Black Emulator of Mayfield. Here are the reasons for my assumption that Emulator is a typical sire of tortoiseshell kittens.

In the course of the last two years my red-shaded L. H. queen, Little Dorrit, a daughter of Ch. Ruddiman and Leading Lady, has been mated in succession to Miss Bowtell's L. H. black, Earls court Black Prince, to Rutland Reddy, Dinna Forget, both L. H. reds, and lastly to black Emulator. The first union yielded three red males and one diffusely red tortie female; the second, two red males and two diffusely red tortie females; the third, three red males and two red females; the fourth, two red males and one dark, perfect tortie female. The great preponderance of reds shows clearly that my queen is homozygous for red, hence the necessity of using a black mate; but the L. H. black gave only a very poor result of a tortoiseshell, and a good specimen was only obtained by a cross with a line-bred S. H. black. I may reasonably assume that the tortoiseshell kitten thus obtained is heterozygous both for black and red, and I am anxious, when the time comes, to pair her again with a S. H. black.

It may be premature to report the results of my breeding experiments at this stage, but it has been done with the object both of acquiring advice in the matter and of raising a discussion on one of the most interesting catty problems in which important principles of heredity are involved. In order to work out the results by Mendel's method, a fair amount of material is wanted, and an expression of the views and experiences held by other fanciers would be very welcome.

The experiment of the late Mr. W. I. Nicholls, reported in Miss C. Morton's admirable book on "Domestic and Fancy Cats" is instructive. Mr. Nicholls used a red tabby female and a black male; he does not say whether S. H. or L. H. I should like to ask the question whether red tabbies or red self and shaded varieties should be used. To my mind, the self is the better of the two, since tortoiseshells should be free from tabby markings.

In conclusion, I must point out one thing which may deter the novice from embarking on the above experiments. There still exists in the minds of some breeders the totally unfounded fear of what is termed telegony; that is, the influence which the male is supposed to exert on subsequent generations. This is purely theoretical, and never found to be true. Your pure-bred L. H. queen will continue to throw L. H. litters after her mating to a S. H. stud, whenever she is put to L. H. male. Should she do otherwise, then other hereditary factors, such as reversion, atavism, mutation, have come into force.—Fur and Feather.

Editor Cat Review:

I want to tell you of a sure cure for the most stubborn skin disease. I saved the life of a beautiful cat by advising the following treatment:

In the first place, rub off the crusts that form with olive oil (pure), then rub crude oil on gently—do this every other day. Sprinkle on some sulphur. The cat should not be combed nor have fleas, for this would spread the disease. This is a simple but effective cure for all kinds of skin disease.

Yours very truly,

Mabelle H. Martin.

Editor Cat Review:

The Empire Cat Club is planning to establish Futurity Stakes at its December, 1922, Show. Three owners of whites have agreed that there should be a Blue-eyed White Futurity. There should be at least five owners, and more would be desirable. Stakes for other colors, also General Futurity Stakes, may be established if there is a demand for them.

Each owner nominates one or more queens at a fee of, say, $5.00 each at the show, or prior to January 1, 1923. Kittens born between February 1 and August 1, 1923, from these queens are then eligible to compete for the stakes at the next Empire Show, each kitten which is entered paying a fee of, say, $2.00. Fifteen per cent. of the total goes to the club for handling the matter and the regularly selected judge will make the award as one of the specials.

The total amount, using the above figures, that is, six queens and nine kittens entered, would be $48.00, a very small figure compared with similar stakes for dogs, but possibly enough for a beginning. Less fifteen percent. would leave about $40.00 to be divided, one-half to first, two-thirds of the remainder to second, and one-third to third.

These figures are merely tentative. More entries or larger fees will make the competition in 1923 more interesting. The manager will be glad to hear from owners of blue-eyed whites and others concerning this innovation.

Alice Judge, Mgr.

ROYAL CANADIAN CAT CLUB

Toronto Exhibition, Canada.

August 29, 30 and 31, 1922.

Judge, Miss E. R. B. Champion.

There was a very large entry for a summer show, numbering 226. Although most of the long-haired cats were out of coat owing to the time of year, there was quite a remarkable display in some classes, notably the blues, of which color there were 28; these were surpassed by the blacks, which numbered 42, next on the list being brown tabbies with 17. These numbers refer to the cats and kittens and not to entries.

The quality both in blue and black classes was a surprise, many very good specimens being shown.

There were very few whites, and the creams and oranges were a disappointment as to color.

All the "bests" were in fine coat and condition for the time of the year.

Best Kitten—Miss M. Briggs' Silver Princess.

Best Neuter—Mrs. F. B. Goodman's Buzz.

LONG HAIREd CATS.*Blue Eyed Whites (had only one entry)—

First and Winner—A female kitten, Zona White. Nice type and eyes, badly out of coat, too large in ears.

Golden Eyed Novice Male—

First and Winner—Prince Snowdrift. Not deep enough in eye-color; nice cat.

Golden Eyed Male Open—

First—Prince Snowdrift; second, White Heather. Not so good as winner in eye color or coat.

Class 10—

First—No name; a fair specimen; second, no name; fails to winner in eyes.

Golden Eyed White Female Novice—

First—Lady Creighton. Nice cat; fails in eyes; second, Princess Mary. Not so good in type as first.

Golden Eyed White Female Open—

First and Winner, also Best White—Snowdrop of Keewardin. Good type, nice quality of coat, in good condition, a little light in eye-color; second, Princess Mary.

Black Male Kitten (21 entries)—

First and Winner—Choney For Short. A beautiful kitten, cobby, good type and in good coat; fails a little in eye-color; second, no name given. Not so good in eyes, but nice type.

Black Male Novice—

First—Choney For Short; second, Fluffy. Nice eyes; fails to winner in type.

Black Male Open—

First—Tony For Short; second, Ecco Erebus. Good in eye-color and type, but in very poor condition.

Black Female Kitten (9 entries)—

First—Sweet Bouquet. Nice type, good eyes, but rusty in color; second, Pansonia Chloe. Also good in eyes, but very thin; fails to winner on condition.

Black Female Novice (12 entries)—

First and Winner—Lady Gertrude. Perfect eye-color, good-quality cat, nice color, but quite out of coat; won special for best eye-color in show; second, The Black Princess. A good cat; fails to winner in eyes.

Black Female Open—

First and Winner—Lady Gertrude; winner in Novice; second, Bamby. Nice type, but rather pale in eye color.

Blue Male Kitten—

First—No name given. Good head and eyes, not in full coat, best color; second, Pat; also a fine kitten, but fails in eyes to winner.

Blue Male Novice—

First—Duke of Sandown. Good type, head and eyes, a little ticked in color; second, 56 A (no name). Fine cat, but fails in eyes to winner.

Blue Male Open—

First and Winner—Duke of Sandown. Winner in previous class; should make a fine cat; large for his age and has good head and type, in good coat. If his color evens up a little more should do a lot of winning later on; second, Pansonia. Another good specimen; good eye-color, but fails in nose to winner.

Blue Female Kitten—

First—Ann Hathaway. A little beauty, short nose, deep eye-color, cobby type and nice light color; out of coat now, but should be hard to beat later; won for best kitten in show; second, Lavinia. Another good one; shows few white hairs in tail.

Blue Female Novice (9 entries)—

First—Miss Toronto of Riverdale. Best female in show, good in head, type, coat and eyes; second, Ann Hathaway, the kitten winner. Had she been large might have gone higher.

Blue Female Open—

First—Miss Toronto of Riverdale. Winner in previous class (Winners); second, Grey Nun. A fine cat, good head and type, but out of coat just now.

Cream or Fawn Male Kitten—

Third—Trixie. Too much marked—almost a tabby.

Cream or Fawn Male Novice—

First and Winner—Beauty. Fine large cat, but too dark in color and out of coat; second, Laddie 11. Also too dark.

Cream or Fawn Male Open—

Second—Pansonia Lloyd George. First and Winner—Lady Fair. A better color than the other cream entries; more even, but rather dark.

Cream or Fawn Female Novice—

First—Lady Fair, winner in kittens; second, Lady Asquith.

Cream or Fawn Female Open—

First—Lady Fair; second, Lady Asquith.

Silver Female Kitten—

First—Dawn o' Day. Fairly light in color, poor type, and did not look well.

Silver Female Open—

First and Winner—Lady Peridot. Nice, clear, pale silver, badly out of coat and fails in eye-color.

Shaded Silver Male Kitten—

First—Major. Has good type, but light in eye-color and marked on legs.

Class 39—

First and Winner—Bonny Langherne. Nice cat, good eye-color, but not nearly enough shading for this class.

Shaded Silver Female Novice—

First—Lady Jane. Fails in color; second, Silver Queen.

Shaded Silver Female Open—

Second—Silver Queen.

Silver Tabby Female Kitten Novice and Open—

Second—Peggy O'Neill. Not correct in color.

Smoke Male Kitten—

Second—Cutie; third, Oma. Both very light smoke tabbies; no real smokes entered.

Orange Male Kitten—

First—Pansonia Goldwyn. Nice kitten, fairly good eye color, but too light in color of coat.

Orange Male Novice—

First—Pansonia Goldwyn. Winner in kittens.

Orange Male Open—

First—Red Briar. Wonderfully short nose, but very light in eye-color; color of coat neither dark nor even enough for this class.

Orange Female Novice—

First—Pansonia Panchrys. Fails in type and eye-color.

Orange Female Open—

First and Winner—Vermillion Vivette. A nice cat of good type, but a little light in color; second, Pansonia Panchrys. Winner in Novice Class.

Orange Tabby Male Kitten—

First—Idle Hour Cattery. Nice kitten, but has a light chin; second, Dinty Moore. Same fault as winner.

Orange Tabby Male Novice—

First—Lord Byng of Vimy. Nice type and quality, good eyes, light tip to tail; second, Boy Beautiful Jr. Fails in color to winner, light chin.

Orange Tabby Male Open—

First and Winner—Best cat in show, Holme Ruddy Boy. The only tabby shown of the correct red color; fine head and type, well marked, cobby shape; a good specimen; second, Mickey. Much lighter than the winner.

Orange Tabby Female Kitten—

First—Lady Edna. Nice kitten; fails in color; second, Lady Betty. Same fault as winner.

Orange Tabby Female Novice—

First—Lady Madeline. Pretty cat, light in bone, white tip to tail; second, Mayfield Ruddybud. Better in color, but badly out of coat.

Orange Tabby Female Open—

First and Winner—Lady Goldlocks. Nice cat, good color and markings, light end to tail; second, Lady Madeline. Winner in Novice Class.

Brown Tabby Male Kitten—

First—Teddy. A little dark in color; second, no name given. Also too dark.

Brown Tabby Male Novice—

First—Mickey. Nicely marked, but fails in head.

Brown Tabby Male Open—

First and Winner—Victory Chief. Nice color and type; fails in eye-color and chin; second, Mickey. In previous class.

Brown Tabby Female Kitten—

First—Peggy. Pretty kitten, good color and markings, good eye-color, but has a few white hairs; second, Miss Toss. Best color in class, but is suffering from rickets, otherwise might have won.

Brown Tabby Female Novice—

First—Peggy. Winner in kittens; second, Miss Toss.

Brown Tabby Female Open—

First—Lady Betty. Nice color and markings. Winners; second, Bit o' Fashion. Not quite so good in color as winner.

Tortoiseshell Kitten—

First—Miss Fluffy. Good type, a pretty kitten, but fails in color; second, Jamaica Ginger. Better color than winner, but fails in type.

Tortoiseshell Novice—

First and Winner—Lady Torscheno.

Might be better patched, but good in type and eye-color; second, Lady Tinto. Fails to winner in color.

Tortoiseshell Open—

First—Lady Torscheno. Winner in previous class; second, Lady Tinto.

Blue Tortoiseshell Kitten—

First—Sinneta. Pretty color; rather light in eye-color; second, Queenie. Fails in eyes to winner.

Blue Tortoiseshell Open—

First—Lady Betty Freeman. Nice cat, fairly good eye-color,

Any Other Color—

First—Donald. A light-blue tabby, nice type; second, Phlox. A ticked tabby; pretty cat.

Mother Cat with Kittens (12 entries)—

First—A litter of five—three blacks, one orange and one cream. All good type and eye-color, but shown in poor condition; second, a litter of five small blues. Nice and even in color, but too young to tell as to eyes.

EDITORIALS

THE opportunity to give "friendly criticism" of the winning cats in the Royal Canadian Cat Club Show gives us much pleasure, and we hope that those whose cats are criticised will be pleased—yes, those whose cats have adverse criticism. It really ought to be very helpful to see our cats as others see them. But we must bear in mind that the color of many cats' eyes, for instance, looks very different at different times, also that when cats are only beginning to grow their winter coats they often are quite a different shade from that which they will be two or three months later.

Preparing this criticism could not have been easy and must have taken much time. We thank Miss Champion for her compliance with our request for the criticism and for the help which she has given the cat fancy.

WE know that we are printing some letters and papers in the Cat Review which do not apply to our readers, for we are sure that none would do such a thing as to move either to or from the country, or to a new home, and leave a cat or kitten behind without providing a home for it, but we do this with the hope that you will show these things to some who are not so considerate. We must do something; we must do much to create a strong sentiment against this evil practise.

If anything on this subject particularly appeals to you, try to get it printed in local papers. Do not think that it is too late in the season to be of any use. If any of this reading reaches the eyes of one who has left a cat homeless, troubled thoughts might be the best medicine and perhaps work a cure for the future.

IT is with the deepest regret that we hear of the death of Dr. Ella M. Braids. She had been in frail health for a long time and had hoped that living on her farm in the country would renew her strength. On the twenty-first of August, when her nephew left her to go to his place of business in Buffalo, she appeared to be in her usual health; when he returned at night he found her lying on her bed, dead. We extend to Mr. Ostendorf our sincere sympathy in his sad loss.

Readers of the Review for many years back will remember Dr. Braids' helpful articles and the help which she was so ready to give to those who wrote to her asking for further advice.

WE have just telephoned to our printer to see if we could add two pages to this issue of the Review, which would enable us to publish more that has been prepared, but the answer was that we would have to add four pages—such is the way that the paper has of folding! It is a disappointment to us; the type has been set, but we must hold over the news rather than leave out any of the other articles.

Do not let this deter you from sending other notes during the month. We thank you for those already sent and hope to have quite a newsy issue for November.
