Breeding Queens

D. B. CHAMPION

PERHAPS no time is more opportune than the present for a few hints on the care of the breeding queen. Everything possible should be done to condition your queen before breeding her, and do not breed her too soon after she has had kittens, or the next ones will be delicate. Her kittens should be at least five months old before a second litter is taken and then it should only be done if the queen is in good condition; as a general rule, a highly bred, long haired cat should only be bred once a year, or weakly kittens will result in many cases.

Of course, in the case of a matured queen that is large and strong, with a fine appetite, two litters can be taken with success, but such cats should be allowed to eat all they want, and in cases of large families a foster cat should be found to nurse some of the kittens.

All young queens should be mated to males over three and under eight years of age, and of course strong specimens. Older queens should be chosen as mates for young males, and very old queens should only be mated to males of from three to six years old in fine condition.

Close in-breeding should never be resorted to, unless you have two cats of wonderful strength and over three years of age, and then only try to cross once, or the subsequent kittens will show deformity, or be delicate. Always take in a strong outcross from time to time to strengthen your strain, but unless you can obtain a stronger strain than your own, it is better to slightly in-breed.

Great care should be taken of queens "in kitten" as in the early part of the year they take cold quite easily when in this condition; if your queen is at all delicate, keep her until March before breeding.

Cats are pregnant rather more than nine weeks, so, if your queen is several days late, do not be surprised or worried as long as she is in perfect health. They will often hunt for their beds and be quite sure they are going to have their kittens several days before the event.

Cats "in kitten," should be fed almost as much as they want and they will come to no harm if they are fed the right diet; which should be finely chopped (in a machine), raw beef to which has been added a pinch of ground bone meal, or calcium phosphates, or a similar preparation, Kal-Fos, put up in 1 pound cartons by Merk. Raw beef should always be put through a meat chopper as beef is a harder meat than a cat would eat in its natural state; of course, a diet of rabbit, chicken, etc. fed raw is far superior to beef, but, this is, in most cases, impossible. Fresh raw beef heart is also very good, but no meat should be cooked, as it makes it rich and most indigestible, except in cases of illness, when stewed lamb fed cold is often very acceptable. In some illnesses raw meat is most distasteful to the patient and therefore should not be given. When fully recovered the cat will quickly return to its natural diet of raw meat.

Fully six ounces of meat night and morning is the right quantity for a cat "in kitten," but in cases where a small family of one or two is expected a reduction in quantity should be fed the second month.

Cereals or milk should not be given as, if assimilated at all, they produce fat and not strength, and the cat has a bad time, and in some cases, dies having her kittens. Since using an entirely meat diet my queens need no attention at time of kittening, and, with few exceptions, all of the kittens live. My experiences at the time when I fed mixed diet were very disastrous; the cats were often two or three days having their kittens, which were often born dead, or died soon after for want of strength.

Let your queens choose their own beds and try not to disturb them; if left quietly alone the results are much better than when they are spoken to and excited.

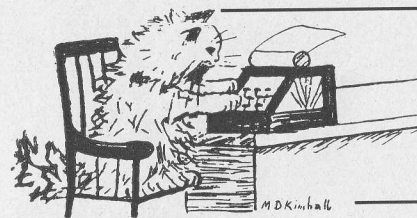

Great care should also be taken as to the quantity fed when the kittens arrive. If the milk glands are swollen with milk, no food should be given for at least twelve hours and then only if the kittens have reduced the quantity of milk, then only small meals should be given, and of course no milk, only water to drink. Many kittens are lost because people think it is unkind to keep the cat short of food, when, on the contrary, the unkindness is in over-feeding the cat and causing "milk fever." When the cat will not stay in with her kittens it is usually an excited condition brought on by a rush of blood to the head, often causing panting. In such cases ice should be applied or wet the head thoroughly two or three times a day with very cold water until the head feels normally cool. Humphrey's homeopathic A. A. in 5 drop doses should be given every one or two hours. Of course, in cases where the mother has no milk let her have meat as usual and in addition raw egg and evaporated milk, adding a little water. The kittens may also be fed with an eye dropper several times a day on diluted evaporated milk: two droppers full to each kitten, until the mother's milk begins to flow.

When the kittens reach a week old the mother may have all the food she wants, also a little evaporated milk once a day until the kittens are weaned. Do not give the milk if the mother has diarrhoea. Cows' milk should never be given.

Be sure to feed the kittens at four weeks if they will eat. Scraped raw beef is the best and most appreciated. Place a tiny piece in the mouth of each kitten: if hungry they will devour this very quickly.

When a queen cannot have her kittens after trying for several hours, a quarter of a teaspoon of ergot of rye in a little water can be given every two hours for several doses: if this is not successful the cat must be taken at once to an experienced veterinary.

Correspondence

Editor Cat Review:

The Review came today. I was much interested in the cat and bird question. I have my three Wendellas and Ronton Moss Rose for hours each day in my dining room to play, where I have three cages of canary birds, and not one has ever tried to catch the birds, which are not over three feet from the floor. The way I teach them is when the kittens are small I place a chair near the birds and if one looks longingly at the birds just say "no no" and put the kitten down on the floor. They seldom go back more than the second time. Persians are so easily taught.

I had to teach Ronton Moss Rose to leave birds alone, but just the same way as I teach the kittens.

None of my family of cats ever bother the little chickens, and I raise many of them. Yours truly,

Mrs. O. T. Young.

Note the powers that be at Johns Hopkins have stated that cod liver oil is a positive cure for rickets.

"Warp."

Editor Cat Review:

Can some one advise what to do when a queen goes into fits when mating? Would you (1) give a sedative, (2) wait till she rests after fit and try again, (3) or not mate?

What is the cause and treatment of sort of spongy growth around "thumbs" of front feet? This is sometimes irritated and eventually flakes off like dead nail. All toes are in good condition.

Also a word of warning against veronal fits.

Editor Cat Review:

The following is a copy of the paper read at February meeting of the Empire Cat Club, which you asked for. Your secretary took two cats over to Keystone State Cat Club show held in Philadelphia, January 13, 14, 1922, in connection with Poultry Association show in First Regiment Armory.

The Keystone State Cat Club was organized June, 1921, by Mrs. H. E. McCann, with the assistance of Miss Kingston and advice of Mr. Johnson. It started with six charter members; they have by parties and social interest raised their membership to forty-nine. There were twenty members present at the January meeting.

The Club joined the Poultry Association for their first sanctioned show, and the rear end of the hall was reserved for the cat exhibit. There were 73 entries, 68 cats being present. Mrs. Warfel acted as judge.

There were full classes of whites, Miss Gormley taking "best cat" with a fluffy little golden eyed lady, Clovelly Ruzaida.

Mrs. Boyer's Br'er Rabbit, bred by Miss Kroeh, we think was appropriately named, a son of Don Leone II, he reposed contentedly in his cage. Other good whites were noted, among them a blue-eyed short hair waif (once on a time).

The reds were good, some light in color.

Mrs. Beatty showed her blues.

Four tortoiseshells were exhibited.

Brown tabbies and blacks were represented by Oxonian P. Amlen and Oxonian Rama, the latter taking "best opposite sex."

Among short hairs we noticed a gorgeous ticked neuter and a black kit with copper eyes.

The judge stated that all were healthy with not a patch of skin trouble. Your secretary noted the great pride of owners and the demand for breeding stock.

The first day of the cat show gave the poultry people their record gate.

There were many visitors from surrounding towns and several from a distance.

Several men took an active interest and poultry exhibitors asked and gave information.

A comedy was staged overnight, Spratts thinking no doubt "cats is pigeons" forgot the staples. Excellency, Tiddeldy Winks and Rama settled their championship in the basement. Your secretary did some horizontal bar work 10 feet in the air and ran her black boy to waiting arms. Seven men worked an hour to remove a pile of lumber over one deserter. The show got some advertising, but as a publicity stunt it's not recommended.

Yours truly,

Madge M. Crouch, Sec'y, E. C. C.

EDITORIALS

WE are pleased to print this month a valuable paper by Miss D. B. Champion, one of the leading advocates of a full meat diet. As we have shown before, people with very different, or even opposite, opinions, may express themselves in "The Cat Review," providing their opinions are valuable.

We wonder if it would be wise to follow Miss Champion's suggestion and leave the queen alone when she is giving birth to her kittens, in the case of a very much petted and responsive queen? This would seem to be an occasion for exercising good judgment; but heed the note of warning given by Miss Champion, and do not fuss over your queen and make her nervous if you remain with her.

Other Editorials and News Notes are crowded out until next month for want of space.

News

The paper used for the frontispiece in the January number was not suited to the cut, and did not make a clear picture. Our good printer has made us a present of a reprint in this March number of the "Review."

We are, indeed, sorry to hear that Mrs. Colburn, of the Beresford Cat Club, is very ill, and has not left her room for a long time.

We are so sorry, too, that Mrs. R. C. Chusty, also of the Beresford Club, is very poorly. We hope that since hearing this both Mrs. Colburn and Mrs. Chusty have been improving.

Miss J. R. Kroeh, of Orange, N. J., reports the sale of Kilravock Ecstasy to Mrs. C. A. Provost, of Morrisville, Pa. Ecstasy is by Kilravock Ivory II ex Kilravock Exquisite, and won the specials for Best White Kitten at the Empire Show last December.

Mrs. Collingridge, of Westpark, Ohio, has purchased Red Flash and a female kitten from Mrs. Mabel Davidson, Owosso, Mich. And Mrs. C. Hofer, of Toledo, has purchased the male kit Ruddigloe from Mrs. Davidson.

Mrs. M. Favorite, of Philadelphia, has bought Wintarge Arlimont, best shaded silver male kitten in the Silver Society Show from Mrs. Arthur H. Churchill, of Montclair, N. J., and expects to place him at stud in the "Review" when he is older.

Some very energetic work has been done by the Springfield Cat Club of Massachusetts. It was started on November 25, 1921, with thirteen charter members, and on December 6th and 7th they held a sanctioned C. F. F. show, with Mrs. F. G. Mathis as judge. The report is printed in this number of the "Review." This is not the old club of Springfield brought to life again, but an entirely new club, and they have doubled their membership since they organized. Mrs. Ralph Balkam is president, Miss Alice Crawford, vice-president; Mrs. Wallace Day, 2d vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Burnett, 3d vice-president; Mrs. Joseph Richmond, secretary-treasurer, 65 Wason Avenue, Springfield, Mass.

The club extends a cordial invitation to cat fanciers living near Springfield to become members.

Mrs. Daisy E. Needham, of the Goldwyn Kennels, Sugar Grove, Ill., has recently sold a lovely male kit to Miss Bessie Dunning, Monroe Centre, Ill., also a beautiful Major Nic-Nac female to Miss McIntosh, of Pittsburgh, Pa. Deposits have been made on several others to be delivered later on. This has been a very successful year at the Goldwyn Kennels.

This from Mrs. H. V. Furness about her kittens purchased from Miss H. E. Brown helps to cheer us: "I've renamed her a dozen times, but she mostly gets called 'Star' rather than 'Dab.' However, she rarely has to be called, for whether I am at my desk, at the easel, or lying down o' nights, she is on my lap or at my side. Evidently she was made for lovin', and of a surety she is getting it full measure. Heap much thanks."

Mr. Patton Bethune, Montgomery, N. Y., has purchased from the Misses Champion, of Staten Island, N. Y., the blue male kitten Sunset Blue Frills by Sunset Admiral ex Glorious Sapphire, who won Best Blue at the recent New York show. Also Sunset Blue Splash, a daughter of Sunset Top Notch, who is to be bred to Sunset Invincible before she goes to her new owner. We shall expect to hear of something good from this breeding.

We are very sorry to hear that Mrs. J. H. Richards has lost her beautiful kitten, Moy-Mel, Best Kitten in the recent Silver Society show. This little favorite of hers was a winsome pet, but, as Mrs. Richards can say, "Every moment of her life was full of joy," there is some comfort in the thought that she kept her little pet so happy. She was sick with gastritis just twenty-four hours.

Most of us know how difficult it often is to secure suitable places in which to hold our shows, and we are, therefore, not surprised to hear that the Beresford Cat Club absolutely could find no good place. But they "will not down." They are going to send their cats to the Decatur show, and help make a success of that. They are showing under A. C. A. rules, and Blanche Watson will probably be judge. Good shows are needed, and we wish the best of success to this Decatur and Beresford show.

Mrs. Doris Elise Bruce, of Los Gatos, Cal., has registered her cattery as Glenridge Kennels. Mrs. Bruce keeps a fine line of orange tabbies, blue-eyed whites, brown tabbies and silvers.

Mrs. Leroy F. Cox, of Staten Island, N. Y., a niece of the famous originator of the Brownies, Palmer Cox, has purchased imported and champion Brown Tabby stock, and expects to raise that breed exclusively. Mrs. Cox has named her cattery The Brownie Cattery, with a country address at Westerly, R. I., where she has recently bought an eighty-acre shore-front property. We congratulate Mrs. Cox both on the grade of cats she has secured and on providing such an ideal place for their Summer home. We shall expect to see some beautiful little Brownies next Winter.

We have no report of the Cleveland show, but if we had, Ch. Wendella V, owned by Mrs. James F. Young, Hopedale, Ohio, would have the place of best white in the show.

Contrary to our usual custom we are printing such wins because it seems only justice that they should be known, and the clubs sent us no reports. Another year we hope that members will request their clubs to send in reports.

We regret not having the full show reports of the California shows, but Mrs. David J. Owens has very kindly inserted an advertisement of her cats' wins, so we know about some of the silvers; and truly this is a fine record for the Normandie Cattery. We congratulate Mrs. Owens.

EMPIRE CAT CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Empire Cat Club was held at the Hearthstone Tea Room, February 3, 1922. Miss J. R. Kroeh was elected board member to C. F. A., Inc., for the coming year. Mrs. Cornell and Mrs. Warfel were chosen delegates. Two new members were elected. The treasurer reported a good balance in the treasury after all show bills were paid.

The paper on "Yellow-eyed White," by Mr. Will Hally, the English breeder, was put over to next meeting.

Mrs. Crouch gave a talk on the Keystone Cat Club Show.

The dark horse, donated by Miss Judge, was won by Mrs. Robinson, and the proceeds placed to credit of special fund.

The "Hearthstone" is heated by two immense fireplaces. During our repast a man began hoisting logs for fuel through a trap door. And what cozy fires they were!

Mrs. Simpson explained how a new mother-cat had been taken with pneumonia, and she was raising five lusty youngsters with a medicine dropper, with chances of success. The queen also promised to pull through. We wish her success.

After a chatty repast the meeting adjourned to meet at the Hearthstone in March.

Madge M. Crouch, Secretary.

ATLANTIC CAT CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Atlantic Cat Club was held at the residence of Mrs. E. T. Rice, 15 West 67th Street, New York City, Thursday, February 16th, at 2.30 p. m. Ten members were present. Mrs. Rice was in the chair. The secretary's report was read and approved. Show manager's report was read, and a vote of thanks given to Miss Ward for the wonderful results of her work, also to Mrs. Romano for her untiring efforts in show work, and to Dr. Paddock for his clever professional services. The treasurer's report was read and approved. The election of officers followed—president, Mrs. Rice; vice-presidents, Mrs. Hofstra, Mrs. Armstrong, Miss Campbell, Mrs. Barnstein. In reply to letter of Allied Pet Stock Association of Decatur, Ill., it was voted to send three cups to their show, to be held March 8th to 11th. The Black Cup, Woodverge Sweet William Cup and the Misses Champion Shaded Silver Cup. New members were elected, and names were proposed to be voted on at the next meeting. Election of delegates to the Cat Fanciers' Federation were as follows: Miss Kroeh, Mrs. Bernstein, Miss Champion, with Miss Champion for board delegate. Meeting adjourned at 4.30 p. m., and Mrs. Rice, in her inimitable way, served delicious tea and cake. The secretary, on behalf of the club, thanks Mrs. Rice for her kindness in so frequently offering her home for A. C. C. meetings.

Genevieve Bloedon, Secretary.

GLENDALE CAT CLUB.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Glendale Cat Club, Cal., was held at the home of Dr. L. W. Ashcroft on February 2, 1922. Aside from the regular routine business a committee was appointed to revise the constitution. A questionnaire was circulated, and everyone asked a "catty" question, the answers to which brought about many interesting and helpful discussions. One new member was elected, making seven new members so far for 1922. After the adjournment of the meeting refreshments were served and greatly enjoyed by all. We had as our guest of the evening Mrs. Gilbert, of Chicago.

The officers for the ensuing year are: President, Dr. L. W. Ashcroft; 1st vice-president, A. E. Hale; 2d vice-president, Mrs. Grace Hendrickson; treasurer, Dr. P. S. Rittenhouse; secretary, Miss C. Grim.

Mrs. Geo. Dewey, Secretary.
